

AMERICA'S ESSENTIAL HOSPITALS

VITAL2022 Preconference Bio

Marsha Bonner

Senior Consultant, MRW Consulting Group International

Bonner is a senior consultant at MRW Consulting Group International and interim chief human resources officer for The Legal Aid Society. She has built a broad base of credentials, experience, and talent in driving innovative and creative growth initiatives, performance management, recruitment and retention, executive leadership, and diversity and inclusion advocacy.

Previously, Bonner served as vice president, people and culture for Urban Resource Institute, assistant vice president of human resources for the New Jersey Performing Arts Center, and a senior human resources business partner for The New York Times Company. Bonner also served as director of human resources for theglobe.com, an international public company focused on internet games, community publishing, advertising, magazine, and distribution businesses, as well as a corporate recruiter and human resources generalist for the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the largest international financial association for publishing, media, and accounting services.

Bonner is a Society for Human Resources Management member and certified Professional Human Resources practitioner. She also holds professional certifications from the Human Capital Institute, Development Dimensions International, Alamo Learning Systems, and Zenger Miller.

Bonner holds a master's degree in organizational change management from The New School and a bachelor's degree in corporate communications with a minor in writing from Baruch College, The City University of New York.